South Side Woman Accidentally Shot by Revolver in Husband's Hands

MRS. FRED W. COX INSTANTLY KILLED IN THOMAS ST. HOME

In Act of Saying Good Bye to Friend When Accidental Discharge of Revolver Ends Her Life.

Through the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of her husband, Mrs. Fred W. Cox, Thomas street, south side, was fatally shot this afternoon a few minutes after three o'clock. Mrs. Cox was cleaning a revolver. Mrs. Cox was preparing to go driving with a friend and came to her husband to say goodbye when the revolver went off, the bullet lodging in her breast. Within a few minutes she died. Apparently the bullet went directly through the heart.

Mr. Cox is bookkeeper for the John Walter Lumber company where he has been employed for some time.

EMPIRE STATE ATTORNEY GENERAL NAMES GLYNN; SULZER TO IGNORE ORDER

Long Legal Battle For Possession of Governmental Machinery of New York State Starts in Gotham With Impached Governor in Second Position.

Albany, Aug. 19.—Lieutenant Governor Glynn is the lawful choice for the executive of New York state pending the outcome of impeachment proceedings against Governor Sulzer, according to an official opinion rendered yesterday by Attorney General Carmody, to Secretary of State May.

Mr. Carmody holds that the assembly was within its rights in instituting impeachment proceedings at an extraordinary session.

"When the governor is impeached," says the opinion, "all of his powers are automatically suspended until he has been acquitted or the impeachment proceedings dismissed by the court of impeachment. In the meantime, the lieutenant governor acts as governor. This is the plain intent of the constitution. Any other construction would nullify its express provision."

Neither Governor Sulzer, Lieutenant Governor Glynn or their counsel would discuss the attorney-general's opinion.

Sulzer Will Fight Decree.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 19.—That Governor William Sulzer, in charge of Attorney-General Carmody's opinion.

PATNETIC SCENE IN POLICE COURT

Mother and Sister Plead With Officers for Son and Brother Held for Theft.

The usual conception of the policeman is that he is a great hearted wreath with a sentiment of kindness in his make up, but once in a while among the world's detectives a station there crops up some trifling incident that results in the arrest of the heart strings of every man on the force and this morning in the local police court the scene of a mother and sister pleading to one of the detectives saying that a son and brother be allowed his liberty was sufficient to cause more than one jump eye among the men.

The boy, John Webster, had been charged with stealing from a downtown departmental store and his mother called to see him this morning before he was taken into court. Tearfully and with pleading voice she asked that Detective Schreyer, who more than one jump eye among the men, be allowed to see him. He was not moved and so the charge went on. He was remanded until tomorrow.

JAMES M. GLENN DEAD.

St. Thomas, Ont., Aug. 19.—James M. Glenn, C. P., for many years police magistrate of the city and one of the best of the county of Elgin, died this morning having suffered for some time with creeping paralysis.

AARON J. LEVY.

He is the Tammany leader in the New York state assembly. He moved the adoption of the resolution for the impeachment of Governor Sulzer. He also is chairman of the committee to act as prosecutors in the senate. While doing this he and his colleagues will be paid at the rate of $10,000 a year at an extra session of the legislature, but Attorney General Carmody last night gave it as his opinion that the proceeding was proper.

100 WOMEN AND CHILDREN DEAD IN EXPLOSION

Scores of Wounded Are Dying in the Streets of Suburb of Mexico City.

Mexico City, Aug. 19.—An explosion on a gondola loaded with dynamite on the tracks of a street car company in a thickly settled portion of Toluca, a suburb of Mexico, killed or injured more than 100 persons, chiefly women and children, early this morning.

Thirty bodies already have been taken from the ruins of the houses. Scores of wounded are dying in the streets.

PASSENGER SERVICE WITHIN TWO WEEKS TO MILE 79 IN C.

New Dining Cars and Standard Pullman on the Way to Edmonton for Extended Service.

Within the next two weeks the Grand Trunk Pacific expects to extend their regular passenger service on the main line west to Medicine Hat, 79 miles.

The trains at present are only operating to Mile 52, Tote Jaune Cache, but a mixed train runs between that point and 79 once every day.

There is a great deal of traffic to the west this summer and the company is anxious to extend the service as rapidly as possible.

New dining cars and standard Pullman sleepers are on the way to Edmonton from the shops, and as soon as they arrive standard sleepers will be added to the west-bound train as well as a dining car.

WRIGHT IS DISMISSED BUT CAMPBELL HAS JOB

Chief of Police Carpenter Makes a Statement that Does Not Explain.

INSPECTOR PUNISHED AND SO IS SERGEANT

Edwards Also is Off the Force Because Suspected of Giving Information to Newspapers.

The main topic of discussion in police circles today has been the summary dismissal of Inspector Samuel Wright and Sergeant J. S. Edwards from the force. The chief when questioned this morning said that Sergeant Edwards had been dismissed, but that Inspector Wright had not. He said "his services have just been dispensed with. I have given no reasons for so doing nor made any statement to the effect that it was because they were given information to the newspapers."

They seem to think that this is the grievance, but I have nothing to say on the matter. Inspector Campbell of the morality department will take over the work formerly assigned to Wright and will only supervise the morality department. Detective Burbeck being in charge pro tem. I have nothing more to say except that there still be appointing new men to fill the place of the dismissed men.

Regarding the matter of cutting down expenses, we are not doing so, I think that they will likely be issued in a short time. I have not read the article in the morning paper as yet. In fact I am afraid to pick up a paper these days.

This is the only explanation that the chief would offer for the sudden dismissal of the men, both of whom are held in the highest esteem by their fellow workers.

Sergeant Edwards when seen by a Capital reporter this morning stated that the chief had called him into his office last night and charged him with expressing opinions regarding the efficiency of the force and the distribution of the men.

Matter Open to Debate.

The sergeant stated that he did not deny the fact that he had perhaps made certain statements which he felt the public should know and which he felt of the same quality. He also told the chief that the matter was open to debate and that he would be pleased to argue with him on the subject.

So far as Inspector Wright is concerned, he was only told that the expenses of the force were too high and that services would no longer be required. The chief also charged him with giving information to the newspapers, but he was not allowed to answer.

So far as the personal character of the men are concerned there has never been a thing brought up against them, and they have always been a most exemplary reputation. If this dismissal is the result of the fact they are supposed to have given out information regarding police matters the Capital is in a position to state that no news which has appeared in these columns came from the police force, and neither of them were in the habit of giving any information to newspapers.

Indignation and Sympathy.

A great deal of indignation and sympathy was expressed among the members of the force this morning, and a prominent provincial official connected with the police force stated that he was not surprised that the men were not given any information to newspapers.

Whether any other heads are to be popped off or not could not be learned at the station today, although it is known that more than one man was on the force before the dismissal, and among them several of the detectives who were asked to explain certain matters.

There is a general air of expectation pervading the police today, apparently none the less feeling very certain of their places.

REFUGEE FROM MATTEAWAN WIRES FOR FUNDS TO FIGHT EXTRADITION

While Canadian Authorities Incarcerate Him In Sherbrook Jail, Thaw Plans Fight For Liberty—May Escape Deportation If He Has Through Ticket.

Bulletin—Ottawa, Aug. 19.—The Canadian immigration authorities declared this afternoon that Harry K. Thaw would be deported from Canada under the immigration regulations.

THAW WANTS MONEY TO FIGHT EXTRADITION

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 19.—A telegraphic request was received here today from Harry K. Thaw, asking that a large sum of money be sent to him at Coaticook, Quebec, where he was captured early today.

SENT TO SHERBROOK JAIL.

Bulletin—Coaticook, Que., Aug. 19.—Thaw was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Dupri this afternoon, and was remanded to Sherbrook jail. He will appear before Judge Mulvena, extradition commissioner, probably tomorrow.

There would appear to be some reason for the belief expressed here today that the Canadian authorities will surrender Thaw to the American authorities at some point on the New York state border.

Thaw will be deported under the clause in the regulations which provides that any person who within five years of his incarceration in a penitentiary or insane asylum enters Canada may be sent back as an undesirable.

New York, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw today quietly left her hotel in New York and took the 9:25 o'clock Pennsylvania train for Pittsburg where she will await further word from her fugitive son, who escaped from the Matteawan asylum early Sunday morning.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—Telephone message from Coaticook confirms the report from Coaticook, N.H., that a man supposed to be H. K. Thaw had been arrested in the Quebec town.

Held Awaiting Instructions.

Harry K. Thaw, or a man posing as the slayer of Stanford, was arrested here today and is held awaiting instructions from Ottawa.

The man drove into town at 2 o'clock this morning, having engaged a farmer to bring him here from Hereford where he left a Maine Central train last night. He declares that he is the man who escaped from the Matteawan asylum for the criminally insane and says that the officials cannot hold him.

The police did not appear to be quite clear as to their grounds for holding the fugitive but they said they would delay him until they could secure definite instructions from Ottawa as to his case.

The police seemed to have no questions to the identity of their prisoner. He refused to take seriously their action in accusing him, declaring that they had not the shadow of an excuse for depriving him of his liberty.

Crossed the Border.

Coaticook, N.H., Aug. 19.—Harry K. Thaw is reported under arrest at Coaticook, province of Quebec.

The man under arrest passed through here on a train last night and later crossed the line into Canada.

Bulletin—Coaticook, Que., Aug. 19.—A man supposed to be Harry K. Thaw is under arrest here.

B. P. Kelsey of this town, who was on the train, says the man admitted that he was Thaw. Kelsey followed the man to Coaticook, where he was arrested.

CONSPIRACY NOT GOOD GROUND TO EXTRADITE THAW THROUGH TICKET WOULD SAVE THAW FROM DEPORTATION

Washington Lawyers Search Musty Treaties to Find the Way.

SAFETY PROBABLE IF HE REACHES ENGLAND

Philadelphia and Connecticut Police Offered to Detain Him—Conspiracy an Extraditable Offence from Any State.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 19.—Harry K. Thaw may be extradited from Canada on a warrant charging bribery, but there is no provision in any of the treaties between the United States and Great Britain for extradition on a charge of conspiracy, except conspiracy to defraud, which is not a crime as it relates to conspiracy to revolt against the master of a ship on the high seas. There is no provision for extradition on the charge of "fugitive from justice."

Those are the views of state department officials based upon the treaties in 1842, 1889, 1900 and 1905. In none of those conventions is there a "hot pursuit" clause which would permit the arrest of a fugitive who succeeded in eluding the border last night.

Immigration authorities here believe Thaw could be detained and returned to the United States by the Canadian immigration authorities as an insane man, or criminally insane, but extradition for bribery could be asked under a provision of the treaty of 1905, which provides that the "delivered to be the offering, giving or receiving of bribes made criminal by the laws of both countries."

It is essential to Thaw's extradition that any criminal act with which he would be charged must also be a criminal one under the Canadian code.

The state authorities at Harrisburg, Penn., indicated that if he came within his state's case would be referred to the attorney-general's office, provided New York asked for his extradition.

The Philadelphia police said they would detain him if New York requested it. Connecticut took the same view that he could be held there as an insane man, but Massachusetts officials were inclined to think that nothing short of a criminal charge would justify his detention in that state.

Ottawa, Ont., August 19.—In official circles here, it is asserted that the offense with which he is charged, that of conspiring to escape from prison is not extraditable and it is doubtful if the American authorities can take him back across the border.

The immigration department might take as an undesirable, but this cannot be done if he is in possession of through transportation to some point outside the dominion. For instance, if Thaw has a ticket for Europe and proposes to continue his journey he cannot be stopped by the authorities. Thaw is doubtless acting under the best legal advice in regard to these matters. He is almost certain to be provided with the necessary tourist ticket as was Jack Johnson, the pugilist, who recently made a safe passage through Canada. Should the American authorities endeavor to extradite Thaw, he would undoubtedly institute legal proceedings against them and a long legal fight would follow.

Companions of Thaw have been detained by the police on suspicion. Thaw is held as a fugitive from justice.

Provincial Police Intend to Arrest.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 19.—On the report that the Coaticook police have arrested Harry K. Thaw, the Quebec provincial police department today instructed Chief Detective McCaslin to proceed at once to Coaticook to assist the local police with their case. Detective Garrison, acting chief of the provincial department in Montreal, is expected to arrive at Coaticook with the United States authorities in which Thaw was charged with an extraditable offense he could not be held.

Stationary Engineer Lins up and Robs Five.

Everett, Wash., Aug. 18.—Erwin Tungren, a stationary engineer at index, lined up five persons against the wall of the Gray hotel yesterday and, after robbing them, fired a fusillade from two pistols, killing Dorothy Dunbar, owner of the hotel, and wounding two others. Tungren escaped.

He refused to leave the hotel when Miss Dunbar asked him to go. Instead, he drew two pistols and ordered her to stand against the wall. Four men in an adjoining room were called out and lined up with her. After robbing the men, Tungren called on the woman to go to her trunk and get $150. Then he began firing. Miss Dunbar started to run. Tungren shot her in the hip and head, killing her instantly.

George Kramer, though wounded, grabbed with the murderer and took his weapons away from him.

UNKNOWN NUMBER OF
I.W.W. MEN ARRESTED

Hundreds of Prisoners Will Be Given Trial Today—Back of Strike is Broken.

Nanaimo, Aug. 19.—The authorities last night brought off their big coup and the provincial jail is now the home of the leaders in the miners' strike. The number arrested cannot be ascertained exactly as arrests were still going on at an early hour this morning, all being made quietly by special constables with the aid of the militiamen. The work started with a couple of arrests in the afternoon on the boat and ended with a wholesale capture of the leaders at the meeting of union men held in the athletic hall.

The meeting was to discuss the proposed agreement with the Jingle Pot mine but once the men were inside the soldiers surrounded the building on all sides. The doors were closed and from time to time the soldiers took a batch of four or five in number to the court house across the street. Those identified as being participants in the trouble of last Wednesday were thrown under arrest, the others searched and if found not carrying firearms allowed to go.

This went on from 10 o'clock last night till well into this morning. As the soldiers held the court house with an armed force no information could be secured as to the number arrested. But it is believed to be large as few passed out of the court house after noon yesterday.

There will be a short court for arraignments and remand tomorrow. It is not thought likely that bail will be allowed in any of the cases. None has been taken so far. The men may elude for a speedy trial before a judge or for a jury hearing and it is likely the latter will be selected.

LONDONDERRY WILL INVESTIGATE POLICE Extraneous Constables Who Were Unable to Cope With Riots Made Subject of Enquiry.

Londonderry, Aug. 19.—The city council has asked for a government inquiry into the conduct of the extra police who were imported to cope with the future Nationalist parade. For this reason, it is alleged, they did not protect a Nationalist procession from the nationalists who assaulted the marchers. They are also accused of having failed to arrest nationalist rioters, who deliberately smashed windows of the nationalist quarters with clubs. They are further accused of having shot a man who was killed on August 14th.

CADETS ON A LEAK.
Halifax, Aug. 19.—Word was received here last night that the Thane, a sailing craft belonging to the Canadian naval department, was ashore near Hubbards' Cove. She had on board a number of cadets, and left Halifax on Friday for a cruise along the coast and was returning when she struck Betty's Island. The Canada was sent to look off the cadets and bring them to this city.

ON SUSPENDED SENTENCE.
Montreal, Aug. 19.—Mr. Abrams, provincial government inspector of municipalities, was let out on suspended sentence from a charge of obtaining money by false pretences. It was stated at the trial that he had drawn a check for $150 on Friday for a cruise along the coast and was returning when she struck Betty's Island. The Canada was sent to look off the cadets and bring them to this city.

Carrying Out of Gen. Hamilton's Report Means Increased Expenditure

MAY BE AN ATTEMPT TO ENFORCE TRAINING

Believed that Government is Preparing to Bring Measure for Compulsory Military Training.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Contradictory views in regard to the report of General Sir Ian Hamilton are being expressed by big conservative and liberal papers in the comments made yesterday upon the recommendations of the British general. The Evening Citizen (conservative) says: "While the report which General Sir Ian Hamilton has submitted in regard to the Canadian militia is conceded to be an exceptionally able one, viewed from a technical standpoint, the reforms advocated are so extensive and so costly as to be accomplished only gradually. The purchase of new batteries and arms, of new stores and equipment and other recommendations of the report will entail an expenditure doubling, if not tripling, the $15,000,000 now spent annually."

The Star (liberal) states today that the recommendations will receive very careful consideration. "I am much pleased with the report," he said, "and I look forward to see that the general witnessed all the best and the best in the force. The marks and criticisms largely coincide with my own views."

The Free Press.
The Evening Free Press thinks the object of the report is to bring about a system of universal military training in Canada. It says in part: "The Canadian militia is prepared to spend more of their time in drill and more money on the militia is the opinion of the report. It is of course, to be expected that Sir Ian Hamilton's report."

The military rise in Canada has been a good deal of curiosity as to the purpose of having General Hamilton send his report. It is believed that Sir John French, the great British soldier, had made a report.

$500,000 LOSS
BALKAN WAR COST
Question is Asked Whether States and Turkey Can Stand Burden.

London, Aug. 19.—M. Philouza, the editor of La Correspondence d'Orient, estimates that the two Balkan campaigns cost the belligerents no less than $500,000,000. Philouza, in the course of his investigations, went through papers of the Turkish general staff with the late Mahmoud Shekhat Pasha and estimated the expenditure of Turkey to July 1, 1912, at $180,000,000, not including the requisitions in Bulgaria at the beginning of the first campaign.

As for the allies, Greece alone has officially committed her military budget, which amounts to about $80,000,000 including $8,000,000 on the war with Bulgaria.

An exact estimate as regards Serbia and Bulgaria is impossible, but Serbia, says Philouza, was very economical in her mobilization for her campaign and her total outlay is not more than $70,000,000, while that of Bulgaria probably was $40,000,000.

Roumania spent $40,000,000 preparing for war and her mobilization and campaign cost her $30,000,000.

In addition to this total of $500,000,000, Philouza adds a further sum of $100,000,000, which he reckoned for bringing the armaments up to date. This means that the western powers, France especially, will shortly be asked for loans and the question arises—can the Balkan states and Turkey bear such a burden?

Would Girdle the Earth in About an Hour

Aviation Enthusiast in France
Predicts a Self-propelling Rocket.

Paris, Aug. 19.—Ernest Archdeacon, writes that he is convinced of the present form of aerial navigation will, in a few years, be as out of date as is the horse today. Humanity, he thinks, will soon have discovered something better than the aeroplane and the children of the present generation will not only be able to girdle the earth in a time now unthought of, but will pay visits to the planets.

According to mathematical calculations of Stanislas Palerle, the coming means of inter-planetary transportation will be Jules Verne's shell, transformed into a self-propelling rocket, which will be able to girdle the earth in 66 minutes.

Radium, he says, may also be made to work by reaction in paying a visit to Venus.

Archdeacon is the most prominent patron of aviation in France.

SOUTH AFRICA NOT READY EMPIRE NAVAL DEFENSE

General Opinion is That is Not the Time for Any Declaration of Willingness in Matter.

London, Aug. 19.—A Cape Town cable to the Telegraph says: "The British and Sydney arrivals here unexpectedly yesterday afternoon, which completely spoiled the reception which had been arranged for them. The Australian residents here arranged a most welcome, but the early arrival of the battleships caused the plans to miscarry."

General opinion in Cape Town regards the present time as improper for any declaration of South Africa's willingness to share in the empire naval defense.

General Buller has asked $2,500,000 for land defense and the desire is to have much more striking force, the necessity for it being apparent during the recent hand trouble, when the police scattered all over the country provided totally ineffective."

WHY THIS FEAR OF PUBLICITY WITH REGARD TO POLICE AFFAIRS.

The absolute childishness of the action of the chief of police in the handling of the official axe should furnish the council and commissioners with a clue as to where to look for the cause of the disorganization which has existed for months in the management of the police force of Edmonton.

According to the story, as reported the chief calls two of his senior officers into his private room, and having delivered to them a lecture upon the monstrousness of the offense of talking to the newspapers—which the men deny having done—he summarily dismisses them from the force.

Not a word about whether or not they were competent officials. Not a word about whether the cause of the disorganization could be traced to them. Not a word to indicate that the stories published in the newspapers were false or even to show that they had their origin with any member of the force. Not the shadow of an inquiry or investigation into the affairs of the force or the trace of a charge of incompetency against the men selected for official wrath. The only reason for their dismissal, apparently, being that the newspapers published a story which represented the organization of the police force in a none-too-favorable light.

The thing is altogether too childish for consideration. If the police force is in the condition that it can be injured by the letting in of a little light as the newspapers are able to let in by lifting a corner of the curtain of secrecy behind which it is shrouded, then the time has come for ripping the curtain apart and flooding the whole setting with light. Secrecy in police affairs is the most dangerous thing of all. There is nothing to show that the officers discussed talked, but if they did it to their credit, not to their disgrace, and it would be much better if the chief himself were placed on the defensive and compelled to do a whole lot of talking to justify his action in dismissing them and in surrounding his conduct of the police administration with secrecy.

This thing is a serious thing. It is not a matter of a private affair between the chief and a couple of his men. It is a matter of public concern. In probably no other city in the Dominion are the public debarred from knowledge of what is going on in police circles. In no other city are the charge book, the blotter and the ordinary documents of the police office withheld from public gaze, and in no other city is it a misdemeanor for an official to inform a citizen as to how many men may be on the beats, or to speak above a whisper of the system or organization. This secrecy would not be tolerated under Tammany regime, and it should not be tolerated here. The fact that the chief, on second thought, decided that he had not dismissed one of the officers accused of talking is not to his credit, but merely a proof of vacillation.

The whole thing calls for a public inquiry, by the council or the commissioners, into the organization of the police force. The city has had enough of the Buck style of secret inquiries to be unseated by such methods. Nothing but complete light will still the disquiet which exists in the minds of thousands who have come to regard the Edmonton police force as a badly-organized and ill-commanded body of men.

If the police administration is in such a perfect condition of organization that it can stand publicity and that its operations will show up well under the light, there should be no hesitation about throwing the whole affair open to the public gaze. If the administration of the police cannot stand publicity, that is the proof that it is time for a change.

AN UNWARRANTED ASSUMPTION OF SUPERIORITY

The two departments which have merited the severest criticism from Mayor Short, the street railway and the power department, continue to shatter records with unfailing regularity.

With its track in a terrible state of incompleteness, due to failures to get permanent construction work done on time, the street railway made its record day of over seventy thousand passengers carried on Thursday last, and its record week of almost half a million last week.

When the power house, and which the street railway had to operate on Spruce street and Alberta avenue are taken into account, this is a remarkable record, and one which reflects credit not only upon the management of the system but upon the employees as a body.

In the power house, in the month of July, the second highest month in the consumption of electric energy, the power house charged no higher price than a year ago, records a surplus of over eight thousand dollars.

When it is taken into consideration that this surplus can be accounted for only by economies effected in the management of the power plant, the record is a tribute to the ability of the man in charge and to those working with him.

Until the mayor can show as good a record in any undertaking which he has had in hand since he came into the municipal administration his attitude of hostility toward those who are making good as the heads of these departments must be regarded as an unwarranted assumption of superiority actuated by personal spite and not by any impersonal solicitude for the good of the service.

THE SLENDER HOPE AS LLOYD GEORGE SEES IT

Unless the nations of Europe put a stop to their progressive increases in expenditure for armament, says Lloyd George, there will be a revolution on the continent. Taxation for armies and navies is growing at such a rate that the countries must quickly become bankrupt. Every European nation is devoting a tremendous proportion of its income to war equipment and Germany has gone one step farther than any of the others by taking a large slice of the capital of the citizens of that empire to be burned up in the purchase of further armament. Nations are exhausting themselves in preparation for what they look forward to as the "great day" when the cataclysm of war will come. The war, if it comes soon, will destroy modern civilization in Europe. If it is delayed, the cost of preparation for war will finally drive the people to revolt. As Lloyd George sees it, the slender hope of averting the disaster is that an international agreement providing for a discontinuance of armament, may be entered into.

She was her to wear rubber goggles (she wore out three pairs). I persuaded her, as a last resort, to try 'Fruit-a-lives'. The effect was marvelous. Her hands are now cured. TODAY WE CELEBRATE

IS YOUR NAME HUGH WILLIAMS?

THEN YOU'LL NOT DIE AT SEA
 Another year has passed and there is a tradition that no man blessed with the name of Hugh Williams will ever die at sea. This is based on one of the most remarkable series of coincidences ever recorded in the logs of those who go down to the sea in ships.

The last and the most remarkable instance of this immunity of the Hugh Williamses on the part of the sea occurred 24 years ago, August 19, 1889, when a cargo was caught in a storm on the North Sea and the ship was wrecked. There were nine men on board, and all were lost except two, who were uncle and nephew, and each of whom was named Hugh Williams. For years afterward the relatives of the fortune men held a reunion on the 19th of August to celebrate the day of deliverance from what had seemed certain death.

But the superstition that no Hugh Williams can become Neptune's victim is far older than this. In August, 1840, a rescue boat, the "Thames" collided with another vessel and went down. There were 35 persons on board, most of whom were drowned, and only one was saved, an old gentleman named Hugh Williams.

A similar instance is recorded at an even earlier date. In 1664 a vessel was wrecked on the life of men, and 80 persons on board. One was saved—Hugh Williams.

Planned his birthday will be observed today at the observatory. The great English center of astronomical science, John Flamsteed, who was born 267 years ago today, August 19, 1693, was the first astronomer royal of England, and Flamsteed Hill, on which Greenwich Observatory was built in 1675, was named in his honor. His celebrated catalogue of the stars, completed in 1689, was one of many contributions to astronomical lore. In Flamsteed's day astronomy was just coming into its own, and the science was often confused with astrology, who had long preyed on the credulity of many countrymen and superstitious. It is related that on one occasion an old woman called on Flamsteed at the observatory. She asked him to locate a bundle she had lost. It was evident that she labored under the delusion that the astronomer royal was an astrologer, and Flamsteed did not dispute her mind of this idea.

When the great learned center of the stars went through the form of incantations, drew a circle on the ground and laid out a plan of the stars, she visited a certain spot in a ditch nearby, where she would find her lost property. Flamsteed, who was a man of science, was not at all surprised by this, and he told her that he would find her property for her. He then went to the ditch and found the bundle. He then told her that he would find her property for her. He then went to the ditch and found the bundle.

If Borden's policy was right to the extent of refusing to enter into a trade treaty, which would increase the trade between the two countries, then it should be right to the extent of prohibiting the increase of trade which is taking place without the reciprocity arrangement.

To be consistent, Borden should either place an embargo or resign.

NO MORAL NECESSARY TO ILLUMINE THIS TALE.
 Tammany is a private organization which for more than half a century has been running the public affairs of the city of New York, and for more than a quarter of a century the public affairs of the state of New York. It is a private organization, and it is a private organization.

Sulzer was elected under Tammany auspices to a public office in the state. After Sulzer had been elected to the office he refused to perform according to the schedule laid down by Tammany.

When Sulzer refused to perform Tammany accused him of corrupt actions, all of which had been committed before Sulzer left Tammany.

So long as Sulzer stayed with Tammany nothing was heard of corruption on his part. Tammany does not want to get Sulzer for the crimes he is alleged to have committed, but for his failure to conduct public affairs entrusted to his hand for the private profit of Tammany.

There is no moral to this, none is necessary.

TODAY IN DOMINION HISTORY.

In the "graveyard of ships" off Newfoundland the Lady Sherbrooke, bound from Londonderry to Quebec, went to her doom 82 years ago today, August 19, 1831.

The vessel, with 305 persons on board, was wrecked near Cape Ray. Only 32 were saved, and the loss was claimed a toll of 273 souls that day. The Lady Sherbrooke disaster was only one of scores of such calamities during the first half of the last century. In 1805 the transport Aeneas went down off Newfoundland, and 310 perished. In 1816 and 1817 two more were drowned when the transport Harpoe was wrecked off Newfoundland. Shortly before the Lady Sherbrooke disaster, the Billow was lost in a storm off Nova Scotia, with a death toll of 187. The Lady of the Lake, bound for Quebec, was wrecked on an iceberg in 1833, with a loss of 215 lives. The Phoenix was wrecked in a storm off Newfoundland in 1841 and all perished. In 1847 two emigrant ships went down. The Exmouth from Londonderry to Quebec, had 240 persons on board, and nearly all were drowned. A Canadian in the St. Lawrence sent the brig Carleton to the bottom, and 170 Canadian immigrants went down with the ship. A few years later two steamers collided and the vessel was wrecked in a fog off Newfoundland, and 300 lives were lost. Fox also claimed the steamer, Anglo Saxon, which was wrecked on a reef off Cape Horn in 1850, and of the 146 persons on board, 257 were dead. Since then ships have been lost at sea in order to maintain the reputation of the waters off Newfoundland and Nova Scotia as the "graveyard of ships."

THE DAISY
 Slight as thou art, thou art enough to hide,
 Like all created things, secrets from
 And stand a barrier to eternity.
 And I, how can I praise thee well
 And wide
 From where I dwell—upon the hillier side?
 Thou little vail for so great mystery,
 When shall I penetrate all things and thee
 And in thy back? For this I must abide.
 'Till thou shalt grow and fold and be no more.
 Literally between me and the world,
 Then shall I drink from in beneath a spring.
 And from the poet's side shall read
 his book.
 O daisy mine, what will it be to look from thine side even of such a living

BUGS INSTEAD OF JEWELRY.

The practice of wearing bugs as jewelry is much more common than is generally supposed. The insect most frequently used in this way is the beetle, many species of which are highly ornamental and make beautiful ornaments. The Brazilian variety is perhaps most often used. Set in gold, it is brilliant, and the beetle's legs and antennae are carved in such a way as to resemble the most delicate jewelry. Another common South American beetle is the "Brazilian beetle," known as Brachinus crepitans, which is a brilliant metallic color. The Indians of the west coast of South America sew this beetle into their clothing to make charms. The insects are so hard when dried that they cling together like pieces of metal.

Another member of the same beetle family is used in Ceylon in making beads. The covers are embossed with the beetle's legs and antennae, and the beads are worked into the design symmetrically, making a creation very interesting and probably very conducive to refreshing dreams.

A very remarkable insect, called the jeweled beetle, has the appearance of being studded with gems, and makes a good substitute for jewels in brooches, earrings and stockings. Another similar insect has a close resemblance to the ruby and is used as such. The European rose chafers, which are very brilliant, make gorgeous ornaments.

One of the handsomest of all insects is the gold beetle—very appropriately named for almost every part of the insect appears as if made of solid gold. A single specimen of this insect sells for $2.50, while a much rarer variety, the silver-hued, is worth $10. The gold beetle is of a greenish-gold hue and makes a very handsome ornament.

Another South American beetle, used for decoration, is the repulsive burying beetle. It makes a very desirable ornament, owing to its strange shape and metallic lustre. The most remarkable of these burying beetles are the sacred scarabs of Egypt. Scarabs have long been in use in that country and are sometimes used in America. The ancient Romans used the beetle as a talisman, and Pliny recommended that it be worn as a preventive of fever.

In South America and Central America several species of living insects are worn as ornaments. A beetle found in the crevices of old walls is worn by the girls to ward off evil spirits.

THE BLACK HAIR
 "I loved her once, I loved her once,
 The loveliest youth did love,
 'Till love her even better,
 'Till she would return my ring."
 "But why," he asked, as he pulled the bracelet of an oak tree to and fro in the extremity of his emotion, "why do you object to me?"
 "There's something about you that I don't like," she replied, as she drummed fitfully against a birch tree with her fingers.

Apprehensively, he scraped the bark from a tall pine.
 "What," he then demanded, "what is there about you that could throw about you such a veil of restraint about this time?"
 "There's something about you that I don't like," she replied, as she drummed fitfully against a birch tree with her fingers.

There are all the elements of an Ogle or Alger romance in the story of Orville Wright and his elder brother, Wilbur, whose untimely death was a terrible blow to the new science of aviation. They were the sons of a poor carpenter, and after leaving school they " tinkered " on their flying machines, and when they had completed the "contraption" they took it to Kitty Hawk, N. C. for a trial. An obscure newspaper, the Dayton News, reported that the Wright brothers had gone south to test some apparatus they had invented. George F. Dyer, editor of the Dayton News, was so impressed that on the very day his fellow townsmen made his first flight, he wrote an editorial proving conclusively that possible. The article wasn't used that day, because the city editor said it sounded like a knock on the Wrights, who were fine fellows, even if crazy, and entitled to some consideration as the sons of a reverend clergyman. And the next day the editorial was as foolish as it had been wise before.

From the first Orville Wright was the actual flyer of the pair. He made all the experimental flights with the new machinery, and it has always been one boast that he has never asked another man to try a machine that has not been tested by himself. Orville's aviators it is generally admitted that Orville Wright is not only the first, but the greatest of them all, and perhaps his is because all his flights are made for scientific purposes only, and not to get the money for a new bicycle.

He has said of him that he is the bravest and most daring of them all, but that he has never once taken a needless risk.

PREFERENCE.
 There is one of Raymond Hitchcock's new stories of a fellow aviator. While on a motor tour of the White Mountains, the young man who formed the party stopped at a house for dinner. One of the party, a second cousin for a moment, then asked the waiter: "What do you call this feather stuff?"

"What is a lot of sole, sir," replied the waiter.
 "Well, you may take it away," said the man, after attacking it with his fork, "and try and get me a nice, tender piece of the upper, with the buttons removed."—Lippincott's Magazine.

ACROSS THE TOP OF THE WORLD.

One of the most extraordinary holiday trips ever undertaken by women travelers was the recent ride across the roof of the world—that part of the Himalayas which separates India from Eastern Turkestan—by Miss E. G. Kemp and Miss McDougall, of London, England. These two ladies have just returned to London and are full of praise for the treatment they received and the great adventure itself. The Miss Kemp has described how they crossed mountain passes which had never before been trodden by white women travelers—and owing to the proposed building of new roads would probably never be used by white women again. They met a saint of Tibet. They conversed with him, and he told them the latest news of Tibet. They visited monasteries filled with figures of local saints and devils and scrolls of many colors. One of the most interesting of their sketches shows monks preparing themselves with masks to perform the Devil dance.

These two ladies, with the smallest possible caravan, met the caravans of sportsmen—large and elaborate affairs, with long trains of ponies carrying the heads of animals. They discovered that the natives on the road were as keen as the sportsmen themselves, and that the sole topic of conversation was the latest game bag.

In Leh they were received at the King's palace, and provisioned themselves for the most arduous part of the journey. They took with them a stock who, when at home in Leh, was also a pillar of the church, a doctor's assistant, sportsman, hymn writer, and general handy-man. He spoke English, and Miss Kemp was loud in her praise of his service. Four men-servants, interpreters, eight ponies to carry the tents, and two yaks—the latter the staple charges upon which the ladies rode—completed the caravan.

They started in the direction of the Pangong Lake, noted for its brilliant color, and ascended to a height of 18,000 feet. For one month they lived away from civilization. They passed large monasteries, and villages poor but charming people. The women dressed in lamb's wool head-dresses, with turquoise and silver ornaments of great value. They lived in dark houses, while the domestic animals shared.

On the huge ridge of the world they discovered herons in its use for everything except carrying oil. They suffered terribly from headaches and adopted chloroform of potash as a cure. In Turkestan they were welcomed with great warmth by Britishers and Chinese alike.

The Practical Side Of It

Miss Isabel A. R. MacLean, whose pen name is "Alexandra," contributed a lengthy article to the Vancouver Province July 12, 1913, on Tels Jaune, which would suit 100 and more members of the Woman's Canadian Press Club.

Of conditions, as she found them, "Alexandra" writes: "Leaving the luxurious appointed clear Trunk Pacific train which had brought us through enchantingly lovely scenes, the writer met the superintendent of construction, Mr. Peters. The official who had brought us here, described him as 'the man who built the road.' He led the way. We went through the camp-furnish and rummage and 'small hand' found on boxes and barrels propped the best food to be found on the market, the best oatmeal, the best beans, bread, tea, coffee and all sorts of canned fruits and vegetables. We walked on the roof of the train for dessert. To supply the camp with the longed-for chicken, in pots of cleanliness and order, with the writer's love kitchen. The mess room, where the ravenous 500 men gathered three times a day, was just as splendid. The cook had just completed a spiced cake, a mile or so in length, topped by long, thin, round beef. The commissariat department always three pounds of beef per day to every man. The chief medical officer of this division was met. It was an Edinburgh which she visited with 100 and more members of the Woman's Canadian Press Club.

"When a great railway throws its plant into the field of operations the usual medical operandi is this: First, out a road. Next, put in a telephone the whole length of the road. Then comes the chief medical officer. He looks at the principal hospitals in the area, and writes between Edmonton and Prince George there are 5,000 to 6,000 men on the G.T.P. NOTICE

Will Nominate a Labor Man For City Council at Next Election.

With the adoption of the report of a special committee appointed for the purpose of looking over the municipal situation, the Trades and Labor council last night decided to enter the arena of municipal politics and will place a labor candidate for alderman before the electors at the next municipal election.

The general opinion of the council, which held its regular meeting in the Mechanics hall last night, was that a strong labor ticket carrying men well known on both sides of the river would meet with success. The labor platform will be drawn up by the committee at a later date.

The motion to withdraw from the Labor Federation of Labor was laid on the table for a month, as was also the motion regarding the election of a vice-president for the same body.

A communication was read from Local 480 of the Plumbers, stating that there were under contract existing on several of the buildings now being erected in the city, amongst them the Edmonton Brewery, the Edmonton Cold Storage, warehouse and the new C.P.R. station.

Delegates Johnson, of the Cooks and Waiters union, asked that the Peeries Cafeteria be investigated, as they had absolutely refused to allow the union to sell the larger theatres by means of their increased facilities for handling the crowds were doing much better business than the smaller ones.

A special committee was appointed to look after the Labor Day sports and parade.

A discussion arose over the members of unemployed within the city and whether a meeting of the citizens called by the mayor would not be a good thing, so that provisions were being made during the coming winter for the men, whom the city had thrown out of work.

It was stated that the city while discharging numerous employees were taking on several men at high salaries and that something should be done in the matter of looking after the unemployed for the winter months.

This was referred to the executive committee to look after.

Superintendent of Technical Education Richardson gave a most interesting address on the subject of "Technical Education and its Advantages" and a vote of thanks was tendered to him.

MOVIES DECLARE
MUSICAL LOCKOUT

Recent Friction Develops into Real Lockout—Men Are Discharged.

An unexpected turn of affairs arose in the Musicians' Union when the members of the Edmonton Exhibitors association, the managers of the various movies around town, declared a lockout on all union musicians. Up till this occurrence, while there had been some friction over the matter of salary, the theatre managers had not discharged any union men, refusing to employ more. However, as the matter stands now a definite lockout is on.

The difficulty has arisen over the fact that the picture managers wish to cut down salaries from $25, which was the scale demanded by the union, to $15, according to the musicians. They asked the men to accede to these demands but the musicians refused to do so.

Otherwise and some three weeks ago were handed their notices, every man except the picture players being discharged. As a consequence there are between 30 and 40 men thrown out of work and the picture managers will be taken up with the allied trade unions of the city and a boycott arranged with all union organizations against the two theatres who are leaders in the matter.

The situation as it stands seems to be that the larger theatres by means of their increased facilities for handling the crowds were doing much better business than the smaller ones.

A special committee was appointed to look after the Labor Day sports and parade.

A discussion arose over the members of unemployed within the city and whether a meeting of the citizens called by the mayor would not be a good thing, so that provisions were being made during the coming winter for the men, whom the city had thrown out of work.

It was stated that the city while discharging numerous employees were taking on several men at high salaries and that something should be done in the matter of looking after the unemployed for the winter months.

Superintendent of Technical Education Richardson gave a most interesting address on the subject of "Technical Education and its Advantages" and a vote of thanks was tendered to him.
